Boysetsfire, Falling Out Theme

So here's the door I changed the lock and time Ten minutes past "I love you" (Gotta fight the urge to start again)

Despite the cost or rhyme We lose and change our mind Before we even try

Circles, corners, gravity forces us Back to where we started from Love and weapons kill much the same way With shaking hands we start again

This stagnant air Feels cold and unaware As I fight the urge to kiss you (Every instinct says just walk away)

Attempt and fail again Envision at the end, That we could make it right

Circles, corners, gravity forces us Back to where we started from Love and weapons kill much the same way With shaking hands we start again

I believe Please heal me Your eyes so Revealing

Circles, corners, gravity forces us Back to where we started from Love and weapons kill much the same way With shaking hands we start again

We start again

Circles, corners, gravity forces us Back to where we started from Love and weapons kill much the same way With shaking hands we start again