

Boysetsfire, Prologue

A Citizen's Duty:

The story of America is a story best seen through the eyes of its people. It is a story built on the idea of freedom. Unfortunately, that is all it is. A story.

Lies built on deceptions. A nation's history cloaked in murder. The idea of a ruling class is still very much alive.

Resist:

It is a citizen's duty to resist the system that pits us against one another.

Refuse:

It is a citizen's duty to refuse to believe the fears their media has implanted in us through sensationalism.

Renounce:

It is a citizen's duty to renounce the idea of borders and boundaries, as they strengthen their hold on us.

Burn.
