

Bracket, Warren's Song Pt. 26

the sunlight fills the sky just like your smile it is god's greatest creation i live by your design and if you like i'll try to lose the depression

i don't think that much of myself but i know that i love you and we'll make a perfect two...someday... but for now i'll just keep you in my dreams

i am slightly diseased the feeling that you give to me is spreading fast someday i hope you'll see that you were part of a wish that came true at last

and we'll make a perfect two...someday...

everybody needs a reason to be alive i finally found you you're the only one the only one by my side i'm so glad i found you

and we'll make a perfect two...someday...
