

Brand New, The Break Up Song

I called you on the phone
And you said that somethings wrong
I can feel it in your voice
I can hear it in your tongue
And you said it's just not working out
It's just not working out..

I'll be crying when you go away
I'll be crying when you go away

You said it wasn't me
You just said you couldn't see
Getting back with me again
So I guess this is the end
You asked if we could just be friends
Let's just be friends..

I'll be crying when you go away
I'll be crying when you go away

(spoken by a girl)
I've been trying to think of a way to tell you this We're almost out of school its our last year and I think we owe it to ourselves to be free
To go out with other people

I still want to be friends

I'll be crying when you go away
I'll be crying when you go away
Away

I'll be crying when you go away
Away

I'll be crying when you go away