

Brandon Heath, Sunrise Song

You want to sound off
But you can't find the words to
Nothing makes sense in the way that it used to
Can't find the plus in the positive thinking
The well's run dry and your not done drinking
Clouds start coming and the sky will fall
Clock ticks back from the bedroom wall
Now your breathing just to make it through the night
All you need is the sunrise
Just a moment of dawn
If your lost in the twilight
Close your eyes and move on
When your tired in the waiting
Even though its going to take you a little more time
Just a little more time
The sun's going to find you
Holding your days like a stack of paper
And your chasing the wind as the pages scatter
You can save a few but you can't get them all back
So get up fast with your heart in tact
Find yourself on the very edge
Lying awake in an empty bed
Now your breathing
Just to make it through the night
All you need is the sunrise
Just a moment of dawn
If your lost in the twilight
Close your eyes and move on
When your tired in the waiting
Even though its going to take you a little more time
Just a little more time
The sun's going to find you
Just a little more time
The sun's going to find you
Clouds start coming and the sky will fall
Clock ticks back from the bedroom wall
Now your breathing just to make it through the night
All you need is the sunrise
Just a moment of dawn
If your lost in the twilight
Close your eyes and move on
When your tired in the waiting
Even though its going to take you a little more time
Just a little more time
The sun's going to find you
Just a little more time
The sun's going to find you