

Brave Saint Saturn, Anastasia

she's the one who all the boys want but she's barely breaking stride when i look and see her standing there i'm all butterflies inside her name means "the resurrection"; it's not too far from true i'm afraid that if i write this song she might break my heart in two

she hits the mark
the kindled spark
but i'll just drag her down down

far away in distant skies i see starlight in your eyes do you think of miracles are they only dreams for fools she's the one who haunts my dreams at night underneath the bluest moon she makes hearts skip beats in triplets the brightest light in any room

she hits the mark
the kindled spark
but i'll just drag her down down, down, down, down when anastasia smiles the world is getting lighter when anastasia wakes the lights come on inside her and stars will light the path for her tonight and yes, the moon is burning oh so bright anastasia