

Brave Saint Saturn, I Fell Away

Did you see me falling down from heaven, breaking every bone I have?
So I tried to touch the sun,
I had another fall,
you can do the math
I was wrong, is what they'll say I'll watch their smiles fade away, I'll watch their black-and-white turn gray, their picture-perfect worlds decay

Today I fell to earth again, again
I guess I failed You
I guess I cannot win
Today,
Today, I fell away
I fell away

Did you see me falling down from heaven, trailing wings of melted wax?
Accelerate,
at nine point eight, accept the fact I'm going to crash And so-called friends have gone away, and all advice will cease to stay

Today on fragile wings I tried to touch the sun, as wax and feathers melted, all my dreams have come undone,
today

Bridge
You lift my battered soul,
You mend my broken wings together
You lift my battered soul
You'll mend my broken bones together
You lift my battered soul
You'll mend my broken bones together