

Bread, Just when i nedded you most

You packed in the morning, I stared out the window
An' I struggled for something to say
You left in the