

Breaking Point, Live For Today

We shared a time
You walked away
Never had a chance to tell you just how I felt
So we carried lies upon our minds
I could never find it to say goodbye
Goodbye
All that I desire is that we leave here today
All that I require is that we live for today
So we carried on our own alone
You didnt even stop to question
What was, its gone
I remember your eyes
Its been so long
I can find the strength to carry on
Carry on
And I tried to erase you
But Im left with a permanent stain
And it didnt even faze you
You know, all wounds heal in time, but scars remain
Now were together, its now or never
We can only live for today