

Breathe, Any Trick

My desire for love had overcome my senses
I longed for someone who could hold me
An open heart lets go of all defenses
Her real intentions had been there to see
I believed it right to keep my devotion
It's so hard to fight when dreams are in motion
For love or money
Do you give me your affection
For love or money
Do you tear at my emotions
Only time can tell, the truth in all our feelings
It's cruel to think that you could use me so
When we're blind with love, much can be deceiving
I must confess this thought, I'm scared to know
I believed it right to keep my devotion
It's so hard to fight when dreams are in motion
For love or money
Do you give me your affection
For love or money
Do you tear at my emotions
Do you live a lie, you keep so much inside
Will you bleed me dry! One fear I just can't hide
Chorus out

Submitted by Michael Hack