

Breed 77, Switch

Confusion in my head
My eyes see only red
Throwing the stones
Breaking the bones
Turning my back on the shadow that we're blowing away

Emotions always lie
You have to question why
Looking behind
See what you find
Breaking the truth to you gently from the very first day

The tables turn around
That body-breaking sound
Never look back
Facing the fact
Never the look on your face like there's something to say

You're looking at the sun
You're not the chosen one
You're not the chosen one
You're staring at the sun

I never meant to take your place - Lying in your grave
And now my hatred has a face - Hatred that you gave

And now you stain my mind
I'm leaving you behind
Carry the blame
Buried in shame
Try to forget that you wrecked all that kept me insane

What made me compromise
The truth is in your eyes
Putting it on
Taking so long
Waiting for night right the anger slowly turns me to pain

The sorrow that I see
Rejected easily
Throwing the stones
Breaking your bones
Turning my back on your shadow now you're running away

You're staring at the sun
You're not the chosen one
You're not the chosen one
You're staring at the sun

I never meant to take your place - Lying in your grave
And now my hatred has a face - Hatred that you gave

I never meant to take your place - Lying in your grave
And now my hatred has a face - Hatred that you gave

I never meant to take your place - Lying in your grave
And now my hatred has a face - Hatred that you gave