

Brett Dennen, Don't Forget

don't forget, don't forget mhhh
that I believe in you
should you forget
let me remind that I am behind you

you were a secret, waiting to be found out soon be what everyone is talking about may you spread your love like laughter find whatever you're after open all your windows and let the music spill out

let me remind you
that I am behind

may you dance like rain upon a still lake you make this world a beautiful place no more crying, don't shun your light, keep shining wipe your tears from your sweet face

let me remind you

don't be afraid should things happen to change
'cause change can be a beautiful thing should things fall apart be patient like a rainbow life is loving and letting go
