

Brian Eno, Two Voices

Two voices:

The one small

Just a ten per cent,

The other long and full

And capable of huge movement

An all-terrain voice

"Sweet dreams, baby"

Says the little voice

And snuggles me to its breast

"Thank you" booms mine

All inappropriate

And blind to the moment,

Blind to the moment