

Brian McKnight, Is The Feeling Gone

Is the feeling gone, my love
Is it not as strong to you and I
Are we still in love
Has the fire died my sweet
Don't I sweep you off your feet anymore
Tell me if I'm right
This is killing me baby
It makes me wanna cry
The message you're sending me, baby
Tears me up inside, tell me where Where are all the butterflies
Do they no longer move inside
Of you, my love
Are they dead and gone
Have they flown away, my sweet
Or am I buried somewhere deep inside of you, my love
Tell me where I am
If I've done something wrong, lady
What's the nature of my crime
Don't keep me hanging on, baby
This is the place and time

(jazz interlude)

Is the feeling gone, my love
Where did all this doubt come from
In me, my love
Have we grown apart
Is it cold right here in my arms
Or have you found another's heart
To keep you warm
Is the feeling gone, my love
Is the feeling gone
Tell me if I'm wrong
