Bright Eyes, We Are Nowhare, And It's Now

If you hate the taste of wine

Why do you drink it 'til youre blind?

And if you swear that theres no truth and who cares

How come you say it like youre right?

Why are you scared to dream of god

When its salvation that you want?

You see stars that clear have been dead for years

But the idea just lives on

In our wheels that roll around

As we move over the ground

And all day it seems weve been in between the past and future town

We are nowhere, and its now

We are nowhere, and its now

You took a ten-minute dream in the passengers seat

While the world it was flying by

I havent been gone very long

But it feels like a lifetime

Ive been sleeping so strange at night

Side effects they dont advertise

Ive been sleeping so strange

With a head full of pesticide

I got no plans and too much time

I feel too restless to unwind

Im always lost in thought

As I walk a block to my favourite neon sign

Where the waitress looks concerned

But she never says a word

Just turns the jukebox on

And we hum along

And I smile back at her

And my friend comes after work

When the features start to blur

She says these bars are filled with things that kill

By now you probably should have learned

Did you forget that yellow bird?

How could you forget your yellow bird?

She took a small silver wreathe and pinned it onto me

She said this one will bring you love

I dont know if its true but I keep it for good luck
