

Brighten, The Better Way

And i am war after ten years of fighting i am there after every time you hear bad news i am not a flame with seven years of lighting and i need you just like they do i am windows breaking in the airplanes where nothing comes out quite like it was meant to i am what you're feeling in your neckveins did you get to feel him near did you get too fond of losing sleep my dear i am more invisible than you could ever be i am what you wanted and you're everything i need if you think im so terrible than you are not aware see im better this way i am what you're feeling when you're nervous i am what you're hearing when you walk away but better music is giving me a purpose and we want this so bad you are the only thing that just might save me oh the thought of it just makes me crazy why did you have to be so persuading you've got to get away you're running after your name i think i'll do the same and get you out of this town
