

Bring Me The Horizon, MANTRA

do you wanna start a cult with me?
I'm not vibrating like I oughta be I need a purpose,
I can't keep surfing through this existential misery now we are going to need some real estate but If I choose my words carefully think I could fiil you that I'm the guru wait, how do you spell epiphany?

before the truth will set you free it'll piss you off before you find a place to be you're gonna lose the plot too late to tell you now one ear and right out the other one because all you ever do is chant the same old mantra could I have your attention please it's time to tap in to your tragedy think you use a new abuser close your eyes and listen carefully imagine you're stood on a beach water gently lapping at your feet but now you sinking what were you thinking? that's all the time we have this week and I know this doesn't make a lot of sense but do you really want think all by yourself now? all I'm asking for's a little bit of faith you know it's easy to believe

and I know this doesn't make a lot of sense
y'know you gotta work the corners of your mind now all I'm asking for's a little bit of faith you know it's easy to, so easy to believe