

Bring Me The Horizon, mother tongue

I didn't see it coming
But I never really had much faith In the universe's magic, till it pulled us too that time and place and I will never forget when the floodgates opened we cried and ocean
it still got me choking it's hard to know me you don't have to show me I feel your lonely no need to explain

so don't say you loved me fala amo. just let your heart speak up and I will know no amount of words can ever find a way to make sense of this so I wanna hear your mother tongue and I could be punching but I always tend to fluctuate I feel sick but I am buzzing love I am trouble
I am sorry but you got me gushing all over the place and I don't want to get wet but I think we were chosen like our fates were woven and all of those bad choices were left turns on the way I think the best way to explain it is like kinda like that, but more like that make sense right, like like, like
