

Broken Bells, Leave It Alone

All this time I've never let you go
And now the same chains that have kept you in are holding down my soul
I set you up, I gave you life, I dragged you out the fire
And now you knocked me down you shut me out and I can see it in your eyes

So now you got it in your head, that you can make it on your own
You were sheltered, loved, and fed but you just couldn't leave it alone

Leave it alone /8x

Well your heart was here, resting on my lap and I'd do it all again but I'm never coming back Well I know I'm lying, lying in the cold Yeah there's snow on the ground, and if I know myself, I'll be leaving down the road I've been all around the world but I've got nowhere to go
I give into this lonely life and you can't change me now so

Leave it alone /8x

The ghosts are on the green each and every night
Oh the distant light is the hardest part to take That's the heart of all my pain lying in the cold
Oh the distant light
in a hue we can't describe, still we know

Could it all be over now?
We've seen it all the while There's no dimension to the clouds
And the moon and world around
That's the heart of all my pain
cause I don't wanna go Oh the distant light
in a hue we can't describe, still we know
