

Broken Hearted, Stop The Clock

How could you be so naive as to who I am?
I was the one who sat by you and wiped your tears away
I was so wrong, ever thinking you trusted me
Now I'm gone
And here's what I have to say:

(chorus)
I'm gone, and I was wrong
Trusting you, was a big mistake
But I can't get you back now
And all I really wanna do is stop the clock and start over again

A thousand words were left unsaid
And even more thoughts were concealed by the darkness
I wasn't there
Memories were left unshared

The betrayal was more dramatic
Than anything I've ever experienced

(chorus)
If I were still in this world and not sitting here crying alone
I wouldn't have said what I said
Saying no to you never made things better at all
If only you had trusted me like you were supposed to
We could have done so much together
And if you hadn't made me say what I said I'd still be there with you

(chorus)
And all I really wanna do is stop the clock and start over again