

Broken Iris, Beautiful Girl

Woke today, another memory passes of you
Shades of gray from those three broken words
That unfold the truth but...

I'll never forget those eyes, that beautiful smile.
I still remember the way you said "good-bye";
No matter how hard I try I can't forget about

Beautiful Girl

On top of the world

Don't fall down

Because an angel

Should never touch ground

Last embrace, forcing you away before it's too late

I end this day in a most bitter way

A regretful state but...

I'll never forget those eyes, that beautiful smile.

I still remember the way you said "good-bye";
No matter how hard I try I can't forget about

Beautiful Girl

On top of the world

Don't fall down

Because an angel

Should never touch ground

Here I lay, I drift away, you come in and lay beside me

It's got to be a memory that feels so real but just beyond me

Mesmerized, In you I find what I had was unrealized but

Emptiness settles in as I awake

Beautiful Girl

On top of the world

Don't fall down

Because an angel

Should never touch ground ...