

Broken Iris, Unfolding Time

This is the moment I've been waiting for Obscure, distorted and left to explore.
In a world of tragedy,
In search for release so I may leave.
My whole life
I've been prying inside but
All this time
The answers appeared in
My whole life
Inhaling frame after frame
All this time
I've been waiting
To find a way to reach inside
To wield the hands unfolding time
The higher I am the better view I find
As I lay down observe it all unwind
No doubt or fear, my view is now clear
I've never felt so alive
Looking in from the outside
Watching my whole life pass me by
Through the descendant of my eyes
My whole life
I've been prying inside but
All this time
The answers appeared in
My whole life
Inhaling frame after frame
All this time
I've been waiting
To find a way to reach inside
To wield the hands unfolding time
The higher I am the better view I find
As I lay down observe it all unwind
No doubt or fear, my view is now clear.