

Bruce Cockburn, All the diamonds in the world

All the diamonds in this world that mean anything to me are conjured up by wind and sunlight spark