

Bruce Cockburn, Festival of friends

An elegant song won't hold up long when the palace falls and the parlour's gone we all must leave