

Bruce Cockburn, The coming rains

All day the mountains rose behind the veil of smoke from burning fields And road dust dyeing black