

Bruce Hornsby, Nobody There But Me

Oh, I wish I could laugh
When I look way back
To find out who stole all my dreams

Whoa, I wish it was easy
To face the fact
There's nobody there but me

Well, it's hard not to smile
When I'm back on high ground
I'm wishing someone could see

'Cause when the sun comes up
And my dreams die down
There's nobody there but me

Well it's hard not to smile
When I'm back on high ground
I'm wishing that someone could see

'Cause when the sun comes up
And my dreams die down
There's nobody there but me

Well it feels so good
To be back on dry ground
After drifting so long at sea

'Cause when the rain says run
When it's all said and done
There's nobody there but me
There's nobody there but me
