

Bryan Duncan, After This Day Is Gone

I can't tell the future but I don't care
'Cause as I learn to trust you, it's enough that You're there
Enough that You're there
You've given me the faith to live through today
So you can have tomorrow, You can have the next day
You can have the day after, the day after that, Jesus

(Chorus):

I believe after this day's gone
Long after all the damage is done
There's still a place in Your heart for me
There's still a plan I can't see
After this day is gone

I always love it when it's easy, and things are goin' right
But there will come a day when
Love is harder to come by, harder to come by
All I ask, that You help me, and stay by my side
And You can have tomorrow, You can have the next day
You can have the day after, the day after that, Jesus, because

(repeat chorus)

(bridge):

Nothing in a day that time won't heal eventually
As long as Your love lasts forever... believe it
I believe it will get better

There's a reason why I'm here, that's what I say
Though I might not understand it
As I face a rainy day
Here comes that rainy day
All I ask, that You help me, and stay by my side
And You can have tomorrow, You can have the next day
You can have the day after, the day after that, Jesus

(repeat chorus)
