

Buck-O-Nine, More Than Your Eyes Can See

i'm still alive and i rely on my will to survive cause i'll know someday that i'll be ok and i'll have done time i won't give up, no i won't come back down until i've made my mark in this world and to everybody who's doubted me i've got a lot more than your eyes can see i've made it this far so i can consider myself to be a success but there's still so many paths i need to take 'till i can rest i must decide which way i'm gonna go fill my soul the future is starting to brighten and success is starting to show i've got more than your eyes can see
