

Built To Spill, Stop The Show

you don't tell me anything that's not a dream
that's not a big lie you're not going anywhere you don't care
you think that's fine
you don't owe me anything you're offering it's already mine your best friend is everywhere they don't care
they think you're slime you don't even know what it means to take your own advice and then expect me to look surprised after awhile you know their style and that's enough to know they suck and when you know they'll stop the show because they know you know I know it's sad but don't feel bad they knew they had it coming after awhile it hurts to smile and if you laugh it's just a typical miracle