

Burnett T-Bone, Purple Heart through the fields of flame i ran with you every blow you took i took with you i lied for you when you moved underground and covered you as the storm of rage came down but i will not wear you like a purple heart to the raging moon burning in the sun i held on to you you held on to no one i followed you 'til you were out of sight and felt the pain as the bullets took the night
