

Burning The Masses, Moltres

We live our daily lives,
understanding almost nothing of the world!

Most give little thought,
to the mechanics that generate the sunlight,
and make life possible!

Few of us spend anytime wondering,
Why nature is the way it is.
And how gravity cements us to,
and earth that would otherwise send us,
spinning off into space,
spinning off into space!

And where did the cosmos come from?
Or was it always here?
Was it always, was it always here?

Do you ever wonder,
the atoms of which we are made?
And on who's stability we fundamentally depend.
And If time will one day flow backwards.
Causing alternate dimensions!!
An earth one day warped through a black hole.

We lack experience,
we lack honor,
we lack intellect,
we lack the truth!

Breezing through your life
not knowing a grain of the world's sand!

Most of us stay within walls,
and lack the wisdom to reach nirvana.
