

Burton Cummings, Where Are You

The flickering of the fire's glow and a spring chill in the air
And now that you're not here to know well I'm knowin' how much I care
Where are you... where are you...
Missin' you babe

The love we thought was heaven-born was confusion in my stars
And what we thought would always last would nevermore be ours
Baby where are you... needin' you every day
Where are you...

Was it just another day?
Was it just another year?
Or just another lifetime...
And I wonder, and I wonder

Flickering of the fire's glow and a spring chill in the air
And now that you're not here to know well I'm knowin' how much I care
Baby where are you, lover mama...
Baby where are you, yeah yeah
The love we thought was heaven-bound was confusion in my stars
And what we thought could always last would never ever more be ours
Baby where are you mama, now
Where are you... missin' you

Was it just a piece of me?
Was it just a piece of you?
Or just a piece of what we knew...
And I love you

Couldn't accept him as he was
No can't accept him as he is
Lord knows what he's gonna be
But he needs you
He's needin' you bad

Was it just a piece of me?
Was it just a piece of you?
Or just a piece of what we knew...
And I love you, lovin' you baby, yeah
And I love you, lovin' you oh so bad

Where are you?
