

Bush, All Things Must Change

All things must change

Forgive yourself, let it slide
You can't sink so far inside
Colors collide on the daydream
Bright like the face of the sun
Letting yourself become water
Love like you just begun

You always come fast

Walk like Superman
Run like the wind in the rain

All things must change
All things must change

Forgive your heroes inside
You can't run from what you hide
Give yourself to the dangers
Open yourself to the stars
Think of ancient symbols
The work of a brilliant heart

You always come fast

Walk like Superman
Run like the wind in the rain
Breathe through all of this
Nothing stays the same

All things must change
All things must change
All things must change
All things must change

There's something in the water
All the fish are dead
There's something in the water
It was everything you said, it was everything

Walk like Superman
Run like the wind in the rain
Breathe through all of this
Nothing stays the same

All things must change
All things must change
All things must change
All things must change
