

Butch Walker, Into The Black

I walk around in circles, just like a dog with vertigo,
As I go insane.

The sun shines all around me, on the world, and everybody with somebody, while I'm in the rain.

'Cause it's you that can break me and keep me on my back.

'Cause it's you that can save me from falling into the black.

The streetlights flash in tempo with my heart that's poundin' although I, haven't had a heart for days.

If I could just be honest, get my feelings off my chest, and on your mind
I could find the way.

'Cause it's you that can break me and keep me on my back.

'Cause it's you that can save me from falling into the black.

Hold me and tell me that everything's gonna be all right.

And I'll tell you that everything's gonna be alright.

'Cause it's you that can break me and keep me on my back.

'Cause it's you that can save me from falling into the black.

you that can break me and keep me on my back.

'Cause it's you that can save me from falling into the black.

The black, [Hold me and tell me that everything's gonna be all right.]

oh, fall into the black.
