

Butch Walker, That Side Of You

Was it just a little too late to say
Everything I wanted as you walked away
Tell me, does he know how to move you like I do
Is it just an easy way to say youre through
Dont make a ghost out of me and you
Theres really nothing I can say or do to change your mind
Seven in the morning I cant sleep
Ive got dust in my veins and a pain so deep
Can I get a chance to make it right

So give me all the love inside your heart
Break me off a little bit of hope so we can start
To feel something real
Try to make it natural to take
Everything Im going in for
You know I cant wait
To see that side of you

All the letters that are on the floor
You never mentioned with a pen before
That you were happy with way your life was turning out
I think he never listens when you cry
I see the mass confusion in your eyes
And wonder what your heads thinking about
Seven in the evening, hes still asleep
As youre crying in the yard with pills at your feet
How the hell you gonna make this right?

So give me all the love thats in your heart
Break me off a little bit of hope so we can start
To feel something new
Try to make it no so hard to take
Everything Im going in for
You know I cant wait
To see that side of you

And push it all away from you
The things that make you run away and hide
Cause the summers coming soon for you
Melt away the cold you keep inside

Just give me all the love thats in your heart
Break me off a little bit of hope so we can start
To feel something new
Try to make it no so hard to take
Everything Im going in for
You know I cant wait
To see that side of you

Give me all the love thats in your heart
Break me off a little bit of hope so we can start
To feel something new
Try to make it no so hard to take
Everything Im going in for
Cause you know I cant wait
To see that side of you
To see that side of you
To see that side of you
