

Butch Walker, The Taste Of Red

well i tripped and i fell into a hole i know so well and i don tthink ill be leaving for awhile and this lump beneath my skin is the home i let you in all it took was just your red lipped biting smile and damn damn damn i love you like the stars that shine above you light the ground that your laying on while looking up at me and oh good god i need this just a chance to see your weakness so i can come inside of your kiss and leave you on your knees slurring thoughts til they bled cuz i love the taste of red and youre stuck inside me like a splinter does drawing words on your back spelling youre my heart attack cuz your naked body glistens like the sun
just a chance to show your weakness so i can come inside of your kiss and just leave you on your knees
