

By Heart, Things She Said

You say that money changes anything
Like when a lightning crashes down
You say you've been through everything and that was not enough
So why'd you leave today

Today we regret the things that we said
And we want them to be unsaid
And then we forget the people we met
And whatever they had to say
But I'll never give my love to you, I save it for myself
And I promise you, no matter what I'll do
That I'm alive, alive, alive, alive

You say desire changes everything
Like when tomorrow becomes today
You say you're never satisfied and that's your curse in life
Do you believe in me?

Today we regret the things that we said
And we want them to be unsaid
And then we forget the people we met
And whatever they had to say
But I'll never give my love to you, I save it for myself
And I promise you, no matter what I'll do
That I'm alive, alive, alive, alive

I am alive'
