By Heart, Your Ghost

November's here, its all a long and sad parade You speak no more; you sit so still, it is your will And when I ask for reasons you answer with your eyes Well, nothing last forever; this is goodbye

Now the memories are haunting me The ghost is you and I Like the blackest ink it will never fade

The end is near and you my dear will be my hangman Your mind is black; your skin is cool and almost ghost-like I want to be forgiven, but maybe not tonight There is no time for questions, it's over now

Now the memories are haunting me The ghost is you and I Like the palest ink it will never fade

Not for a minute or a lifetime Could we be standing side by side Not for a minute or a lifetime We would be lying if we tried

Now the memories are haunting me The ghost is you and I Like the blackest ink it will never fade
