

By The Tree, Better Part Of You

You wished on a star today
You made 'em fall right into their place
You want to dance and you want to sing
You would give up everything just to hear your story told
Just to see your life unfold
Doubt makes it hard for you to see that way

You and I were running freely
Never knowing, never nearly
Hanging around until I find you there
So unaware too
Don't let them take the better part of you

Time is on your side
So am I too
I know the reasons you have found yourself believing
So put your past behind, let love be your guide
Doubt makes a hard for you to see that way

Don't let them take, wipe your tears away
Don't let them take that from you, the better part of you