

Cadaverous Condition, First Song

wait, here we stand starry-eyed at the crossroads I do not pretend here we stand once again

Im just passing by - come crashing into your life uncertainty

not enough time lets hesitate forever as I stumble I await my fall

Im just passing by - here crawling into your life let loose your dolphins to tear me apart let loose your cats to feast on my heart let loose your friends to defile my name let loose a love to engulf me with pain

Im just passing by and here is your first song and the light in your eyes, glimmer or pity

let loose your friends to defile my name

Im just passing by, sharing your fear of getting old and now I remember that your hair was golden
