

Cadillac Moon, Every Dog Has His Day

(Noyes, Nugent, Santoriello, Hackford)

Most of the time I'm just an ordinary man. I don't care too much about a master plan

I've got my work to do and I've got my places to go. Where it all leads to I hardly ever know

I've learned there's rarely a need for an apology

Every dog has his day but the nights were made for Cats like me

Every dog has his day. Everydog...

I can't recall the last time I felt guilty when I saw the bar clock pointin' right at 4 A.M.

Life seems to feel so short in the most dangerous times. Five minutes more I'm gonna cross that fine line

It's just at that moment that you might agree.

Every dog has his day But the nights were made for Cats like me

Every dog has his day Everydog...

There's a little bit of dog In all of us. We blame him for our problems, curse him for the fuss

One thing is certain every man can say. That he's the only damn dog that will never stray.

I'm just a regular guy with few crosses to bear. Just tryin' to let the better side of me get somewhere

But every now and then I feel my spirit sag. Cause the mangy mutt let the cat out of the bag

I don't know why I keep such bad company.

Every dog has his day But the nights were made for Cats like me

Every dog has his day Every dog has his day
