

Cales, The Rule Of Darkness And Ice

When energy will disperse in every directions

Stars will explode

Planets will collide and flames will strike the sky

Vulkanos will be revided from their hundreds of years of dozing and boiling lava flow

When icy claciors crack and oceans overflow

The matter will split and disperse into space

Then the freezing universe of infinity will swallow

Up everything and the rule of darkness and ice will begin