Caligula's Horse, Golem

A slow burn, down to the last dead letter
Sulphur to cover up the smell of the blood in the water
Absolve me
Could kick out the flame but we both know better than to follow a road to its end Just give me that feeling again
Sing
A slow burn
A bite to the bone, a shudder
Lay down and die in the mud like a good little soldier
Absolve me
Could kick out the flame but we both know better
You'll follow that rope to its end to give me that feeling again
Now sing, wreck
A slow turn
Blind to the verdant mother
Lay down, refusing to believe it's over
Absolve me It's a kick in the teeth I'm not that better man
And I'm on my knees at the end to beg for that feeling again
Sling hope around your neck
When you fell out of the world, you saw that it still turned
Only mercy for the dead
Sling hope around your neck
You're not done yet
You don't learn
Still striving to understand
Stay down
The tongue bites the blood for a taste of the backhand
We're home free, but fixing the fight leaves us all no better than the hammer that's striking the nerv
We're getting just what we deserve
Now sing, wreck
Take wrong and ruin intertwined and pour your nothing into mine
Where do I put the violence? He's gone, and I still carry it
Golem
For all the peace you'll never find, for all your little suicides, you turn and face the bayonets It's time
Get up and finish it
Golem
Follow that rope to its end to give me that feeling again
Now, sing
When you fell out of the world with no hope to return, did you think we would forget?
Sling hope around your neck
You're not done yet
O, Mother, won't you save me?
O, Mother please, we're bleeding out
Just send the sun to face me and tell me that I'm needed now
O, Mother, won't you pull me down?
I'll raise a voice
I'll pay the debt
Don't let the silence take me yet

