

Camel, A Heart's Desire

Latimer/Hoover
The light is fading
The cause invading all the hopes that you were building
on tomorrow
Now you must go.

So stretch your wings,
as nature sings
her farewell lullabye to soothe you through the changes
When you must go.

The gift is knowing your strength in going when the time has gone beyond your heart's desire,
and you must go.