Camel, Lady Fantasy: Encounter

It was the very edge of summer the air was thin the sky more pale Dusty roads I remember Oh so well... The winds of future blew around us The owners came to tell their tale, feelin' like a piece of paper in a gale. Go West, go West. where there's fruit in every place a smile on every face ... Go West, go West... Where there's work (so I'm told) California's never cold, so Go West ... We sold part' our lives for 18 dollars... Bought a Hudson Super-6 Travelled on down the highway with no rest... Childhood memories behind us Grown-up feelings lie ahead, Asked my Dad why we're going and he said ... Go West, Go West Where there's fruit in every place a smile on every face ... Go West, Go West... Where there's work (so I'm told) California's never cold... so, Go West...