

Camouflage, Dreaming

Everyone
Should act with common sense
But what you see is Quite hard to understand
You feel the world
(Or try somehow)
No need to share the pain
You wait for the kingdom come
In your dressing gown

Sometimes you feel it
It's coming up -- you see it
You know this longing in your heart

(You're only)
Dreaming
Of a lifelong pleasure
No expense just leisure
An everlasting treasure
That never gonna let you down

You come undone
To fit into every size
You never know how
To look into your children's eyes
You seize your day
(Or try somehow)
No need to share the gain
You smile when you fall asleep
On your subway seat