

Canaan, The Unsaid Words

The words I lost in you
The ones I never found The empty words I lost in you are all I'm left with now The void I found in you
The light I found in you is all I left behind

They say there is a place
for everything
They say there is a time
for everything
They say there is a need for everything

Please tell me where's mine Because all I can find here are the traces of the many words I lost in you of the ones I never found of the ones I'll never find
of the many words I lost in you

They say there is a place
for everything
They say there is a time
for everything

Tell me where's mine Because all I can hear now is the loud silence of all the words that once had a sound of the only words that once had a meaning.....