

Candlebox, Sometimes

And I wipe the night from my eyes
Block out that sunny day and I
And everything is falling down around us
Just missing the rain yeah
And Im happier now today
But dont let me down, dont let me go
A change of seasons inside of my
In time Ill decide, in time Ill decide to move on

CHORUS:

Change directions, watch the tides
And we borrow too much
And form restrictions, we form lines
And we separate you from me
But sometimes
Sometimes we carry more weight than we own
Oh sometimes
And sometimes goes on
And night takes the light by the hand
And turns out that boring day yeah
And cries out loud
Never once, hanging on
Hanging on my words
Kills the feeling of being alive
And shes happier now today
Dont let her down, dont let her go
Found no reasons,
We found no lies
We just bleed together
Thats how we realize and we

CHORUS:

Change directions, watch the tides
And we borrow too much
And form restrictions, we form lines
And we separate you from me
But sometimes
Sometimes we carry more weight than we own
Oh sometimes
And sometimes goes on and on and on.
And somehow well find a way
Well paste it back together
These ripped out pages of old coloring books
Your gold is silver
My blue is grey
Its all held together by cellophane tape

CHORUS:

If we change directions, watch the tides
And we borrow too much
And form restrictions, we form lines
And we separate you from me
But sometimes
Sometimes we carry more weight than we own
Oh sometimes
And sometimes goes on and on and on..
In my head Ive got everything I want
And In my head Ive got everything I want
And In my head Ive got everything I want
And In my head Ive got everything I want yeah
