

Candlelight, Among The Stars

Have you ever felt like this world
Was not your home
Reach out your hand and get to know
The flame that's dying in you
It's dying everyday and you're
Gonna die with it
But your life shall still remain
In you
And every new day you'll feel this strange pain
Happiness and sadness at the same time
'Cause that's what you are, you have this spell inside of you
Like the blue of the sky
Sprinkled with human blood
And I feel the same when I'm alone
Life is killing me
Sometimes I wish the figure in hood
Would come for me
And the blade of his scythe
Would cut down the stalks of pain
Oh, can't you tell me why this world
Seems sometimes to hate me so?
Sometimes a dawn brings me fear of tomorrow
And then there is no place to go
Sometimes the wind brings me coolness of my memories
And then I know that I'm alone
I will hide and strike from darkness
I will fly into the stars
I will keep on trying to find some way to carry on
As long as blood swishes silently in my veins
We shall fall and rise again
Comets will show us our way on the night sky
And with every day we're gonna drift further and further among the stars
To where our place is
For those who are like you and me