

Candlelight, Flying On My Wings

Time seems to be running out
All those years behind me passed away
Time seems to betray me
It killed the flame inside me and the fire
In my eyes seems to be so cold
I feel now so much is lost...
Why all my memories are tearing me slowly apart?
Whole my life I have struggled for one of those stars in the sky
To be mine
Noone could help me and noone could know how I've felt
I wanted to close whole my world in my hands but it died
With the sun
Now the world is gone
I'm left alone
But the wind sings so clear...
One with my mind
No more being blind
Fighting for every tear
Flying on my wings
